

Accessing your child's medical records online

A child's medical record on SystemOne Online can be accessed by the parents via proxy access up to age 11.

The moment they are 12 this is automatically turned off by the clinical system.

If the child wishes for their parents to access their online account, the GP will need to decide if

- a) The child has the capacity to make consent or
- b) If it's in the child's best interests to allow parents access.

At this point it can be limited to the activity, ie. requesting medication or booking an appointment only.
